

At the Home.

On Friday there was an entertainment at the Orphans Home with the Governor and State Officers present. Rev. Mitchell was presented with a souvenir spoon, and Miss Summerfield, the retiring teacher, was presented with a testimonial by the school. Governor Jones being chosen to make the presentation speech. They had refreshments and speeches, and the children greatly enjoyed the day. The only regret was the parting with the teacher Miss Summerfield. The lady has during her stay at the school firmly established herself in the hearts of the scholars, and their is universal regret at her departure.

A LONG RIDE.

How a Carson Woman Wheeled Over the Sierras.

Yesterday R. A. Marshall, Chief Deputy Clerk of the Supreme Court of California and his wife, reached Carson by wheel, having come over the Sierras by way of Lake Tahoe.

This is the first time a lady has ever made the trip. They have been about two weeks on the way, having a sort of picnic along the road, sending their baggage over by express.

The toughest road they ever struck for wheeling, Mr. Marshall says, is from Glenbrook to Carson. They spent three days in the mountains back of Tallac, and rode up above the snow line. They made toboggans of their bicycles and came down the snowy declivities at a pace that they never care to attempt again. Mrs. Marshall is one of the Editorial Staff of The Traveler, and was formerly Emma Fleming of Carson, daughter of George Fleming, formerly of the Mint. They are stopping at the Arlington.

Is It Jim Williams.

The Genoa Courier has the following:

The adopted daughter of G. Albert Smith, a farmer living six miles north of Sanger, Cal., was missed from her home at six o'clock on the evening of the 12th inst. A thorough search was made for her but without avail.

The child who is twelve years of age returned to her home at 11 P. M. She says that she left the house about 5 o'clock to gather eggs. She went to the barn, about 500 feet from the house, found a good many eggs, and decided to count them. She sat down on the ground, and while counting the eggs was seized from behind, a handkerchief was tied over her face and her limbs were bound with rope.

The man then picked her up and carried her away. She says she heard her mother calling her, and that the man threw her into the creek. She drifted down stream, landing against some brush, and after considerable effort managed to free herself from the ropes.

The officers made a thorough search, and arrested a tramp named John Williams, whom they found sleeping in a hay stack, about two miles from the Smith ranch, also a Chinese employed on the place. The supposition is that it was the intention of the brute to assault the child, but being alarmed at hearing the mother's calls, he threw the child in the creek.

Sheriff McCormack thought perhaps that John Williams mentioned above might be the tramp, Jim Williams, of the Sarmann murder notoriety, and mailed a letter to Sanger asking for a description of the man, but has received no reply.

The Bridgeport Shooting.

The following additional particulars of the attempt to kill Tom Riekey are from the Bridgeport Chronicle:

On Thursday afternoon Harry Cole, a blacksmith at Hot Springs, was brought up from Coleville by constable Crawford and lodged in the county jail on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon with an intent to kill, he having shot at T. B. Riekey and a young man named Olds at Sayer's junction of the Sonora and Antelope roads, during a sale of sheep to satisfy a judgment in favor of Kirman & Riekey on Monday last, for sheep trespass. Cole, with a pistol, fired at Mr. Riekey, the ball whizzing past his head, and then turned and shot at Olds, who also escaped unhurt, and before he could repeat his shooting, Charles W. Riekey, son of T. B. Riekey, procured a stick and knocked Cole senseless for a moment, when he was disarmed and put under arrest. There was a bitter feeling among some of the sheepmen and matters looked serious for a time, but after Cole's arrest, quiet was restored. Cole waived an examination before Justice Carney, at Coleville, and was remanded to answer to the Superior Court, bail being fixed at $20,000. As the case will soon come to trial, we refrain from further comments, not wishing to prejudice the case.

W. E. Harden has returned to this city and will open a writing school.

SILVER IN THE EAST.

A Nevada Man's Observations in Chicago and New York.

Secretary of State Howell who has just returned from New York gives the result of his observations on the Silver question:

"In New York nine business men out of ten are for gold standard, because their interests lie that way. In Chicago out of forty-eight wards forty-five were for silver. The question is the general topic of conversation everywhere, at the hotels on the trains and in the streets.

People who two years ago never gave the matter a thought, are now studying the matter carefully with a view of being on the right side. As soon as they hear that a man is from Nevada they ask him about silver, because men from Nevada and Colorado are regarded as having given the question more practical investigation, and they will listen attentively to a man who comes from this part of the country, for they recognize the fact that it was out here that the agitation of the great question started.

Our Congressional Representatives are working hard for the cause and making splendid headway. The Cleveland Convention declined to discuss silver and its action has driven many representatives into the silver ranks."

Lynching in Mississippi.

Port Gibson, Miss., June 21.—James Saunders, colored, was lynched last night, about twelve miles from here, by a mob of both blacks and whites. He was caught by his son in a compromising position with his own daughter. The son reported the case to Saunders' wife, step-mother of the girl, whereupon a row occurred in which the wife of Saunders was killed, either by himself or daughter. A brother of the murdered woman, with about 200 blacks and fifty whites went to Saunders' house last night and hung him. It is reported that the daughter will be strung up to-day.

It is expected that negotiations will be completed in a day or two for the leasing of the Willard & McDonald mine at Mountain House to J. R. Johnson, C. W. Duke, Frank Feule and R. Cook. Mr. Johnson and his partners expect to put men to work immediately and hope to start the mill within a week or ten days.

J. B. Merle, who used to clerk for E. B. Rail, is visiting this city. He is now located in Hayward's, California, in the hardware business. Mr. Merle is a staunch silver man, and says that everybody in his town are coming in line for the white metal.
